Washington Is Casting Anxious Eyes On Balkans

President And Secretary Of

BORDER CLASHES GREATLY FEARED

Danger Of European Conflict May Result From Present Situation

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A new European war peril today caused this government to cast anxious eyes on the Balkans, volcanic center of the old world's political troubles and scene of the outbreak of the World War.
The danger of war between Yugoslavia and Hungary as an aftermath of the assassination of King Alexander created such concern here that President Roosevelt discussed the situation with Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Following the White House conference, the president let it be known that all American embassies and legations in the trouble zone and the principal capitals of Europe had been instructed to inform the state department of every development.

Border clashes between Yugoslavians and Hungarians resulting from the expulsion of the latter from Yugo-Slavia were seen here as the principal danger to peace.

It was felt here that neither the Yugo-Slavian nor Hungarian governments had anything to gain from precipitating a war but that the

PA NEW OBSERVES

Two weeks from today is the first day of winter and the shortest day of the year. People who have believed that they were putting part of the winter behind them please take notice!

Word was received today that Mack McConnell of Pennsylvania avenue has bagged a large deer near Emporium, Pa. Mr. McConnell is hunting with Mike Fazzone and Anthony Casella, south side residents.

Last night was the coldest of the winter season, so far, the temperature dropping to 17 above. Last fall we had temperatures just a little above the zero mark around the middle of November.

This morning Pa New noticed several motorists nursing frozen radiators along South Mill street.

There was a new rush on service stations last night for anti-freeze for radiators, as the thermometer registered down below 20 degrees for the first time this season.

Santa Claus in local stores are having a busy day of it. Many children are making the rounds of the stores with their parents. Tonight will be one of the busiest Saturday nights of many months in stores.

A lot of children with sleds have been disappointed that snow has not fallen in sufficient quantities to make coasting. Even at that, a considerable number have been seen with sleds trying to coast on the light snow that has covered some of the streets and fields.

A group of Tin City hunting club members, of which George (Ted) Wright is a member, has returned home after a hunting trip in Rich Valley. Mr. Wright brought back a 185-pound 12-point buck. This was his first experience in game hunting.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follow:
Maximum temperature, 28.
Minimum temperature, 17.
Precipitation, 0.1 inches, snow.
River stage, 5 feet.

Statistics for the same date a year ago, follow:
Maximum temperature, 47.
Minimum temperature, 30.
No precipitation.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal. Dec. 8.—
"Certainly news in the papers today. 'Russian firing squad executes 200,' 'thousands of Hungarians driven from Yugoslavia,' 'Norman H. Davis gives warning to Japan that ship ratio will not be changed.'"

Now there is three separate events, each enough to start its own war. But time will tell which one of the three proved the most costly. Two of these are dealing with their own internal affairs, and I just sorter hate to see us dictate beyond our own borders.

Campaign To Make Up Budget For Margaret Henry Home Is Organized

R. W. ROWLAND
NAMED CHAIRMAN

Fifty men and women attending a meeting last evening in the rooms of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of laying the foundation for an effort in behalf of the Margaret L. Henry Children's Home.

The meeting was presided over by Attorney Thomas W. Dieker, who introduced the chairman of the campaign, Roger W. Rowland, who outlined the purpose of the effort, and called attention to the group of the dire necessity for assisting the home.
He stated that since the Community Chest, of which the home is a participant, did not raise the amount designated in its campaign this year,
the Margaret L. Henry Children's Home finds itself in a financial predicament, and therefore must ask for assistance.

The board of directors of the Margaret L. Henry Children's Home states that the home should be the concern of each and every citizen of New Castle, and that they feel that those who will be called upon to do their share in aiding the home will respond heartily.

Under the able leadership of Mr.
Rowland and his committee, it is felt that the campaign will be put over in a few days time.

The next meeting will take place on Friday evening, December 14, at 7:30 in the Elks lodge room, when the members of the organization committee will be expected to bring other workers with them.

Mussolini Takes Over All Italian Credits Abroad

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

ROME, Dec. 8.—In an effort to protect the exchange rate of foreign currency, Premier Mussolini today took over all Italian credits abroad.
Foreign holdings of banks and citizens are involved as well as the sums in foreign branch banks in Italy. All such foreign credits when liquid will be compensated in Italian currency at the existing exchange rate, while frozen ones will be dealt with especially.

Under the arrangement, only the Bank of Italy will be empowered to negotiate currency.

The cabinet today passed a decree requiring payment for all exported Italian goods must be placed at the disposal of the Bank of Italy, which will pay the exporters in Italian money after cashing the foreign currency.

LIQUOR SALES OVER MILLION IN WEEK

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 8.—Liquor sales soared beyond the million dollar mark last week for the first time since the state stores opened nearly a year ago, on January 2, the liquor board announced today.
Sales for the week ending December 1 were $1,155,268, nearly a quarter of a million dollars higher than the $929,011 the previous week.
Since the stores opened, sales have amounted to $34,875,000.

KIDNAPING THREATENED

EUGENIE H. GREW

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Dec. 8.—Another midnight telephone threat to kidnap Miss Eugenie H. Grew, 17-year-old adopted daughter of Randolph C.
Grew, Boston banker and brother of Joseph C. Grew, ambassador to Japan, brought a squad of police to the Grew home in the Back Bay today.

The family butler received the telephone call from a person who described himself as being the same man who had telephoned last Monday night and threatened to kidnap Miss Grew.

At that time federal agents were called on to guard the Grew home in the Back Bay and the family's Manchester-by-the-Sea summer estate.

Wiley Post Makes Second Plane Trip Into Stratosphere On Friday

MAKES 6 MILES
MINUTE SPEED

(International News Service)
BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Dec. 8.—
Wiley Post, globe girdling aviator, was confident today that his second flight into the stratosphere in his monoplane Minnie Mae to an estimated altitude of 55,000 feet accomplished a double objective.

Besides attaining what he feels certain will prove a new altitude record for heavier-than-air machines the veteran flyer announced that he had attained a speed of approximately six miles a minute in the rarefied atmosphere of the upper reaches.

After spending two hours and 26 minutes aloft in his supercharged equipped plane Post came to a perfect dead stick landing at Phillips field here at 4:04 p. m. yesterday.

Upon climbing out of his special "stratosphere suit" resembling a deep sea diver's equipment, Post said he was almost certain that he had flown about 55,000 feet. His altimeter froze at the 55,000 foot level.

The three photographs Post carried will tell the official story when they are calibrated at Washington.

Lieut. Renato Donati of Italy holds the present world's altitude record of 47,352.2 feet.

INQUEST VERDICT IN PARADE DEATHS

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 8.—The home of Joseph J. Bruno, former county detective and Republican "boss", was held by a coroner's jury today as the source of the gunfire that poured into a political parade at Kelayres on the night of November 5, killing five marchers. Bruno and six of his kin are held on separate charges of murder.

Five identical verdicts covering the five deaths were returned by the coroner's jury at an inquest held in McAdoo, near the scene of the slayings, after nine witnesses gave their versions of the ambush.

FOUR PERSONS BURN TO DEATH

(International News Service)
COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 8.—Lew Bowen, Chicago, mail pilot for the Branniff Air Lines, was killed when his plane crashed and burned in a field a mile east of here early today.

Part of the plane's mail cargo was saved from the flames when the ship's tail broke off and was thrown several yards when the crash occurred.

MORE OF URSCHEL RANSOM FOUND

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Department of Justice announced today that $30,000 more of the Charles Urschel kidnap ransom money has been recovered at Portland, Ore.

At the same time it was said Clara Feldman, sister of Albert Bates, who is serving a life sentence in Alcatraz federal prison for the kidnaping, was under arrest on a charge of conspiracy to aid the kidnapers.

The money, which was found in the mountains near Portland, brings the total amount of Urschel ransom money to be recovered by the government to $124,000, $20,000 was found near Portland several weeks ago by government agents.

Eighty Year Old Hunter Succeeds In Getting Deer

To have lived ten years beyond the allotted three score and ten and then have enough vim, vigor and vitality to tramp at least a mile for every year of one's life in trailing an elusive deer, is an accomplishment that has not fallen to many octogenarians during the present hunting season.
But J. P. Rea, 322 Locust street, who will reach the age of 80 on February 28, 1935, came home Friday from a few days' hunting trip in Center county, and brought a nice 8 point deer, which he shot with one shot from his Winchester 32 special rifle, as it ran along the shores of the Susquehanna. He got the deer on the second day of his trip.

In the party with Mr. Rea, who is a member of the Red Star Club, were his son, H. M.
Rea, who got his point animal on the first day they were out; E. Harding, who brought back a 6 point and Arthur

Duke Byers To Leave Service

Dean Of New Castle Firemen Will Resign Post After Years Of Service

RESIGNATION IS ANNOUNCED TODAY

Announcement was made today
by Fire Chief H. Claire Stockman, that the resignation of Duke W.
Byers, dean of New Castle's fire fighting force, had been presented, effective January 1, 1935, when Captain Byers will retire after having spent more than half a lifetime serving the citizens of New Castle.
On September 11, Captain Byers completed 45 years of continuous service, during which time he never missed drawing a pay. In fact Captain Byers has never been absent from duty, except for his vacation periods and some few days when he has laid off for special occasions, when he hired someone to take his place.

MISTLETOE IS VERY SCARCE

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 8.— Bashful Swains, who heretofore depended on a spray of mistletoe to gain a kiss, are going to be "out of luck" this year.

Natives of this section declare that the severe, rock-bottom temperatures of last winter destroyed much of South Jersey's supply. Some mistletoe, however, will be available from other sources.

HANG COMMUNISTS

(International News Service)

SOFIA, Dec. 8.—A total of six communists, including five soldiers, were publicly hanged today in the Bulgarian towns of Philippopol, Kar-lowa and Starassagora.

The condemned men were accused of communist activity among Bulgarian troops.

Deny King's Death Decreed At Meeting Held In Youngstown

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 8.—Croatian leaders here maintained today "misinformation" led to the sensational charge made by Tibor Eckhardt, Hungarian League of Nations delegate, that the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia was decreed at a mass meeting in Youngstown.

It was generally recalled, however, that the king's assassination had been "predicted" by speakers at various gatherings here.

Joseph Kraja, national president of the Croatian Circle, with a member-ship of 200,000, denied emphatically that there was any sort of plot announced at a big Croat picnic in Youngstown last summer, as Dr.
Eckhardt had charged.

"It's not true," Kraja declared.

Find Bodies Of Members Of Lost Tribe Of Giants

(International News Service)
TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 8.—Found:
The bodies of 37 men and women!
Each was more than 7 feet tall!
And according to Dr. Byron Cummings, famous scientist on the faculty of the University of Arizona, they were members of a "lost tribe" of giants who wore oriental turbans and robes and mummified their dead Egyptians.

Dr. Cummings announced today a rare discovery was made by an expedition headed by Paxson Hayes, Santa Barbara, Cal., ethnologist, in a remote district south of Ciudad, Oregón, of the Indian country of Sonora, Mexico.

Nine of the bodies found were in a perfect state of mummification, Dr.
Cummings reported.

Senior High Class Scores Success In Graduation Play

Every city has its share of "Big Hearted Herberts". Those strong, rugged individuals, who worked their way up from nothing at all and bore everybody but themselves with a daily recital of how to achieve success. Self made men, so-called, because nobody else would be apt to take the blame.

A pair of ladies, by name Sophie Kerr and Anna Steese Richardson, wrote a play not so long ago titled "Big Hearted Herbert" and the players of the January Class of 1935 of the Senior High School pre-

Not even the authors could have complained of the treatment given it by the high school players.

Woman Shooting Victim Still Alive

(International News Service)
LEBANON, Pa., Dec. 8.—Police today renewed their thus far unsuccessful efforts to question Byron
A. Laudermilch, 60-year-old lingerie manufacturer, concerning his friendship with Emma Miller, 28, who was found critically wounded in a ditch at the lonely National Guard reser-

(International News Service)
In harmony with the postwar political affiliations of continental Europe, the leading powers dramatically took sides today before the League of Nations investigation of the assassination of Yugoslavia.

France and Soviet Russia threw the weight of their support behind Yugoslavia in its controversy with Hungary, while Italy sided with the latter and charged Yugoslavia had rejected a treaty of amity.

Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France, the most outspoken debater, demanded sanctions against Hungary for alleged complicity in the murder, and insisted upon adequate international regulations to wipe out the menace of terrorism. He charged the assassins of Alexander were striking directly at European peace.

Great Britain took a middle course, condemning terrorism but declaring an anti-terrorism convention would have to take into account political organizations and treaty administration.

COSTUME BALL AT WHITE HOUSE OCCURS TONIGHT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—President the newspaper women tonight, which sets at rest the question of uniden-

PERKINS LOSES FIRST TILT ON N. R. A.

York Man Will Keep Up Fight

Case To Be Carried To Higher Courts, Manufacturer Announces

SUIT REGARDED AS TEST CASE

By EVERETTE DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 8.—The first skirmish in the fight with the N. R. A. was ended today in a victory for the Blue Eagle.

After deliberating little more than four hours, a federal court jury of wage earners and housewives late yesterday found the husky, fatherly faced Perkins guilty on ten counts of paying less wages at his backyard battery factory in York, Pa., than the N. R. A. allows.

Fight Just Began
Angered rather than surprised at the verdict, Perkins, who claims lineage to the Puritan warrior, Miles Standish, thumped a heavy fist down on the press table and declared:

"This fight has just begun." I'll enlist every liberty-loving person in America to my cause and fight this case through all the courts.

Defense counsel, headed by Attorney Harold B. Beiler, Philadelphia, immediately started plans to carry the case to the third district circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia where former U. S. Senator James Reed of Missouri and other nationally-known lawyers may enter the defense.

Test Suit
The trial of the 225 pound, six-foot former Cornell football star has interested small businessmen throughout the nation because it is considered a test suit in which the constitutionality of the entire N. R. A. structure is at stake, and because of Perkins' self-styled entrance into the lists as a champion of the "little fellow" in industry.

Recognizing that the case will go to higher courts, U. S. attorney Frank J. McDonnell in a statement declared the jury's verdict "absolutely justified," and predicted it would be upheld. He said it indicated that residents in central Pennsylvania—from which the jury was picked—are in accord with President Roosevelt's new deal.

Formal sentencing of Perkins by Judge Albert L. Watson was postponed until Monday at 2 p. m. under the law, a fine of $500 can be imposed for each violation, or a total of $5,000. In lieu of payment, Perkins could elect to go to jail for 30 days and then take a pauper's oath to wipe the slate clean. He did go to jail for 18 days and ran his business from behind the bars while raising $5,000 bond when first arrested.

POST OFFICE'S DEDICATION IS ONE WEEK AWAY

City Awaits Formal Program; Affair Takes Place During Afternoon

The dedicatory ceremony at New Castle's new post office, scheduled for Saturday, December 15, a week from today, will take about an hour of the afternoon. Postmaster Richard A. Steen announced today.

The program, the postmaster said, will commence at 2:30 o'clock.

While a general committee, named by the Chamber of Commerce, is at work on the plans for the afternoon affair, Postmaster Steen today made known some of the arrangements for the day.

He said post office department officials have been invited and also postmasters in about 50 towns and cities of Western Pennsylvania.

Heating the speakers' list for the day will be Clinton B. Ellenberger, third assistant postmaster general, who will come here for the exercises from his Washington office.

Mr. Ellenberger will reach the city in the morning and pass the day here as Postmaster Steen's guest. Announcement of the other speakers will be made Monday or Tuesday.

A platform will be erected about the Washington street entrance of the new structure and loudspeakers will be installed to carry the program to the audience.

Inside the building, everything will be spic and span, and city letter carriers, in uniform, will stand ready to escort the public through the new building either during the afternoon or in the evening.

A feature of the dedication will be the public exhibit which the New Castle Philatelic society will sponsor. On display will be postage stamps of all kinds. Ralph F. Davis, this city, is in charge of the display arrangements.

Clerks of the post office will also be ready to assist the public on the dedication day, and are assisting the general committee on arrangements.

Postmaster Steen will be chairman of the dedicatory program in accordance with regulations prescribed by the department.

Two Large Bears Seen By Hunters
G. C. Harper knows that the old residents of the sparsely settled Sinnamahoning, Ridgeway and Driftwood districts speak the truth when they say that "there are bears in them thar hills."

Mr. Harper, an elderly resident of the Butler road, R. D. 1, with Clare Kerr, was scouting around Sinnamahoning in search of big game, and found it. He saw two giant bears and nineteen deer.

Mr. Harper was only twelve steps from one large, fierce black bear and only ten yards from another. He could have bagged either or both if the season had been open. At it was, the stood still and watched the big, lumbering animals walk slowly away. Neither animal saw their human intruder.

Mr. Kerr brought home a fine 3 point buck. Most of the deer the two men saw were does.

SENIOR HIGH SCORES SUCCESS IN PLAY

and no "problems" in it. Something that the youngsters could get their teeth into and feel satisfied with their efforts at the last curtain.

Briefly the plot is this. Herbert Kalness is a self made man with a phobia against colleges, social life, dress shirts, and the little amenities of life that distinguish us from the cave men. His daughter meets a "Hawvawd Bostonian" at a summer resort, becomes engaged and Mrs. Kalness hurriedly plans a wedding dinner for the groom to be and his parents. What Herbert does to that dinner ranks with the atrocities of the World War.

The next evening he brings a customer and his wife home to dinner and Mrs. Kalness determines to pay off in his own coin. He styles himself a "plain" man and she serves up a plain dinner of stew, attended by a pen of Poland China porkers. Herbert finally sees the light, agrees to the wedding of his daughter, agrees to live a manner approximating their station in life and everybody's happy.

The Cast
The cast this time saw a lot of faces that were either new or else had been cast in minor parts in other plays.

With her usual deft touch Miss Clara Hartsuff spotted the players in the parts best suited to them and then welded the lot of them into a unit that presented as pleasing a performance as has been seen on the Senior High School stage in some time.

Charles Dinsmore took the part of "Big Hearted" Herbert Kalness. The part was loaded with lines and just memorizing the role was a task. It called for irrepressible, fast repartee and a change of pace. Dinsmore had them all and carried his load with ease.

Ruth Shale had the part of Elizabeth Kalness, his wife. It is always Charles Dinsmore hard for a teen age girl to carry a middle aged part and yet this young lady was particularly good. She had a poise and the understanding of the role that put her on even terms with the n.s.e. lead. Both of them were ideally cast.

Doris Marvin had the part of Alice Kalness the daughter. The part merely required a girl to be her age, which is hard enough back of the footlights, and Miss Marvin was entirely adequate.

William Evans and Deane Smith were cast as Herbert, Jr., and Robert Kalness. A pair of modern lads who were philosophers without knowing it and called the turn on the old man unerringly. Both of these lads came through with plenty to spare.

Tom Armstrong, the young man in the case, "Andrew Goodrich" looked and acted the part of a young man in love. Couldn't have been from experience so it must have been from native ability and training.

Lester Levine and Betty McMahon had the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lawrence. Wealthy relatives of the Kalness family. Needed a couple of players with looks and pose and had it.

Jack Muse and Betty Cole handled the part of Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich, parents of the groom to be. Appeared but briefly but gave their parts an understanding ability.

Walter Conover and Layte Wheeler took the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Haven, customers of Herbert Kalness. They merely had to act and look bored and surprised at the "plain" dinner and they did it well.

LEADING POWERS OF EUROPE TAKE SIDES

000 Hungarian aliens were deported recently, giving a number of persons marked for expulsion between 10 and 20 days to prepare for departure.

In a desperate effort to forestall possible border incidents, Hungary stripped its frontier guards, including customs men, of all weapons as refugees from Yugoslavia continued to stream across the border.

Dramatic Session
Geneva, Dec. 8.—France and Italy dramatically took sides today in the potentially dangerous controversy between Yugoslavia and Hungary over the assassination of King Alexander.

Both nations, through their official spokesmen at the League of Nations investigation into the outrage, expressed their abhorrence of political terrorism, but France solidly backed Yugoslavia in her demand for satisfaction from Hungary, while Italy took the part of Hungary in firm and certain terms.

Soviet Russia also entered the debate, siding with France and Yugoslavia.

For France, the spokesman was Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, who charged that the assassins of Alexander were striking at European peace with the connivance of Hungary.

For Italy, the speaker was Baron Pompeo Aloisi, who alleged that Yugoslavia had peremptorily rejected a treaty of friendship with Hungary and upheld the latter's claims for World War treaty revision, one of the chief underlying causes of the dispute which has now flared into the open with repercussions felt throughout the world.

Presents Mussolini's Stand
Taking the rostrum immediately after Laval had charged that "with the complicity of Hungarian authorities, a terrorist band left Yugoslav territory and went not only to Yugoslavia but also to France" and urged an international anti-terrorism convention, appropriate sanctions and safeguards for the future, Aloisi stepped forward to present Mussolini's stand in the issue.

He started by calling attention to 11 Duce's recent speech at Milan, when Mussolini expressed willingness to collaborate for peace, but declared that Hungary was justified in demanding complete investigation of the grave charges leveled against her by Yugoslavia and supported by the other Little Entente nations and France.

"Hungary," Aloisi said, "has proudly refused these charges, and in the interest of peace this clearing up of the situation should be pursued to its conclusion."

Aloisi insisted Hungary's treaty revision policy was a peaceful one and refused to concede that it could be linked with terrorism.

"The council has heard with a feeling of horror," he said, "that sentence of death against Alexander was pronounced at Brussels a month before the assassination and that the sentence was published in the International Press."

Condemn Violence.
"Italy was the first to condemn violence, because of its centuries-old juridical conscience regarding any criminal violence. My government will study with profound attention the perils of M. Laval for international affairs against terrorism, but first the league should endeavor to establish a normal atmosphere of confidence."

Of the two addresses, that of Laval was the most vigorous, but in contrast to the somewhat hysterical declarations which aroused fears of a new conviction yesterday, he expressed conviction peace would be maintained.

Ease Regulations.
Belgrade, Dec. 8.—In apparent realization of the grave new European crisis, has been provoked, Yugoslavia today issued the strict regulations under which more than 2,000 Hungarian aliens were expelled from this country and hustled across the border during the last 48 hours.

Sixty additional Hungarians were ordered today to leave the country immediately, but a number of others were granted from 10 to 20 days to put their affairs in order before quitting the country.

This was regarded as a substantial concession, inasmuch as most of the previous deportees were rushed across the border on an hour's notice.

Official circles reiterated the expulsions were undertaken as a direct result of previous deportations of Yugoslavians from Hungarian soil. Spokesmen also insisted those singled out for expulsion either failed to heed the strict laws governing alien registration or are suspected of political activity.

An official denial was issued of reports in the Hungarian press that Cetniks, the colorful Yugoslav border troops, had damaged the property of expelled persons.

It was insisted that the regular police are handling the mass expulsions satisfactorily and calmly.

The Yugoslav press continued to publish reports of heavy Hungarian troop movements along the border, but satisfaction was expressed over the progress of developments at Geneva, where the crisis is under consideration by the league council.

Yugoslavia was particularly pleased over the united front presented by the Little Entente bloc and Turkey against Hungary, which was viewed as a "moral victory."

HOLD TIMINSKI FOR INVESTIGATION
Oscar Timinski was arrested last night by police on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He had in his possession a box of cigarettes and quantity of chewing gum for which he could not account.

Chief of Police John Haven ordered Timinski, who has previously been in police court, held for investigation.

New Castle Case In Federal Court

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—Contending the insurance firm can only recover on an "implied contract" for actual payments to injured relief workers, the city of New Castle moved in federal court today to force the Aetna Life Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., to produce books and records affecting the suit over alleged unpaid premiums.

The city, the motion stated, claims no legal contract existed for the period from January 1 to June 29, 1933. No records of payments to injured workers during that period is in the defendant's hands, and the city seeks a court order for production of the plaintiff's records for use as trial evidence.

Mr. Byers, while still active, feels that he has reached the age where he ought to retire and enjoy a little of life. He does not look his 71 years of age, and plans to rest and do some of the things he has always dreamed of being able to do. He will retire on the pension, which has been accumulated by the city firemen through the receipts of funds allotted from fire insurance payments by the state.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—Christmas will be brighter in Pitscairn this year, for the borough council, taking the role of Santa Claus, today had reduced electric light rates 50 per cent for the month of December.

Economies of operation in the municipally-owned plant made possible the reduction, it was explained. Savings to residents, council said, will total $2,500.

SAMOA.
The people of Samoa, amiable, loving gaily upon all occasions, take kindly to holidays and opportunities for feasting. Christmas is looked forward to with pleasure, although it is doubtful if they realize its significance. Each village chooses a queen of ceremonies from among its most beautiful maidens and on Christmas day interest centers around her court. There is a great feast at which strangers are given the place of honor, and it is the queen's duty to entertain them, and to supervise the exchange of gifts.

Mystery Tree At Oak Park Cemetery

Trustees Want Owen P. Fox To Tell Why Half Is Oak And The Other Half Elm

Trustees of Oak Park cemetery are looking for Owen P. Fox, local naturalist, to solve the riddle of a hybrid tree that has been found by workmen who are engaged in clearing a new tract of land. The tree is nearly two feet in diameter from the ground up to a height of four or five feet, where it branches off into two forks.

It is at these forks that the mystery begins. One of the forks is an oak and the other an elm. The tree up to the forks has rough bark like an oak and is apparently solid. The branches and leaves on one fork are distinctly oak and the other elm. The two forks are about the same size. Woodsmen who have examined the tree say they have never seen anything like it. George S. Long, one of the Oak Park trustees said this morning that they would like to have Owen P. Fox give his diagnosis.

ITALIAN REPORT OF Battle Is Denied
(International News Service)
ADDIS, Ababa, Dec. 9.—Defying the Italian version of the bloody battle near Ual Ual Wells, in Italian Somaliland, in which 60 troops lost their lives, the Abyssinian government today announced Italy was to blame for the slaughter.

Native troops of Italian Somaliland, armed with tanks, airplanes, and heavy artillery and commanded by Italian officers, launched a surprise attack upon Abyssinian soldiers according to the official report made public here.

The Abyssinian troops who were attacked were an escort for a British Ethiopian commission, the government announced, stating also that the incident occurred on December 2.

Abyssinia charged that Italian troops had advanced 75 miles into Abyssinian territory, ten of which were covered today.

The Italian version of the affair, made public yesterday, was that Italian troops had been attacked by a band of Abyssinian raiders.

The Abyssinian charge d'affaires at Rome was instructed to protest to the Italian government vigorously and to demand an immediate explanation.

DINNER-BRIDGE AT GLENN HOME

Dinner at seven, with bridge following, Friday evening, in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Glenn on Summer avenue, interested 12 members of a dinner-bridge club, including Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Morrison of Boston, Mass., visitors in town, and Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Bartholomew of Franklin.

After enjoying a delicious menu three tables of contract were in play, high score awards falling to Mrs. George W. Lamoree, Mrs. Gordon Klein, John M. Higgins and H. A. Morrison.

CHAPTER PLANS EVENING PARTY

At the close of the business meeting Monday evening, December 10, the members of New Castle chapter 105, Order of Eastern Star will entertain friends at cards, under the direction of the Educational Loan Fund committee: Mrs. Glenn Pinkerton, Mrs. Carolyn Lindsey, Misses Martha Bigley and Gertrude Potter.

Cards will be in play in the west dining room of the Cathedral at 8:30.

A. A. Club Meets

An Thursday evening, the A. A. club members entertained in the home of Betty Over on Lathrop street. Over the business period, Ada Riley presided in the absence of Sal Hetrick, president, who is ill.

A period of games ensued, with Kathryn Smith being winner of the prize. Following, the guests were served a dainty repast by the hostess assisted by her two sisters, the Misses Uber, at the dining room table. A color scheme of green was attractively carried out in the appointments.

Names were drawn for the exchange of Christmas gifts to take place at their holiday party on Friday, December 21. Miss Elizabeth Leishman of Cunningham avenue is the appointed hostess for the occasion.

G. W. C. Club

Mrs. H. M. Allen, of Chestnut St. received the G. W. C. Club members in her home Thursday, for an informal period of fancywork and chat. A tempting repast served at the close of the evening, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. C. E. Patterson.

Plans were completed for their Christmas party on Friday December 21. Mrs. C. C. Coulthard, of Morton street, will be hostess.

MRS. BROWN—
"Hello — Mrs. White.
What in the world are you doing with all those parcels?"

MRS. WHITE—
Why—Mrs. Brown—I've just come from LEVINE'S, the Men's Wear store at Washington and Mill Sts.

It seems that all I hear the men at home talk about is "LEVINE'S"—the nice things they have and their reasonable prices.

And what a relief it is to shop there. They sell Nationally advertised merchandise, so I don't have to worry about the quality. And SUCH assortments. I saw more shirts and neckwear there than I ever dreamed of seeing in three stores.

My Husband is going there Monday to get a "Knit-tex" Top-coat. He might as well have it for Christmas as they are always the same price anyway and not reduced in clearance sales.

But there, my dear, I must be going as I can just see you want to go there right now and buy the gifts for your own men-folk at

"PAINTERS" TOPIC AT SOROSIS MEETING

Favorite paintings were named in answer to roll call at Sorosis meeting Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Roy A. Long on Neshannock boulevard. Mrs. Fred Smith read a paper on James McNeill Whistler, the painter, which has been prepared by Mrs. E. A. Fenton. One on Incidental Motions, prepared by Mrs. S. E. Crawford, was read by Mrs. Frank Woods, who also had charge of the usual parliamentary drill.

On December 21, the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Frank Woods, Sheridan avenue.

DORCAS CLASS HAS CHRISTMAS DINNER

A large basket of poinsettias, red candles in holly holders and small Christmas trees adorned the tables at the Central Christian church Friday evening when the members of the Dorcas class had their annual Christmas party and dinner, with places arranged for 47.

Three new members were welcomed at this time: Mrs. Cora Heath, Mrs. Margaret Must and Mrs. Elizabeth Cole.

A business meeting was featured by an election of officers, with Mrs. Rachel Martin named president. Her corps will include: vice president, Mrs. Emma Porath; secretary, Mrs. Helen Frazier; assistant, Mrs. Charlotte Conley; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan; flower secretary, Mrs. Amy Wink; teacher, Mrs. Anna Cowmedow, and assistant, Mrs. Mollie Shear.

Santa Claus made his appearance late in the evening and gave each one a gift and a treat for the children. Mrs. J. Owens was a special guest.

Carol singing featured the music of the evening. Mrs. Sarah Hopper and her committee were in charge of dinner arrangements.

MACON BRIDGE PLANS YULETIDE GATHERING

Mrs. J. R. Means of Butler avenue, entertained as guests in her home Friday evening, members of the Macon Bridge Club. Three tables of cards were in play, lovely favors being awarded to Mrs. I. A. Taylor, Mrs. C. S. Haid and Mrs. A. K. Martin.

Names were drawn at this meeting, for the exchange of Christmas gifts, this to take place on Friday, December 21. Mrs. M. J. Young of Hillcrest avenue, will be hostess.

Luncheon Event

The annual exchange of Christmas gifts featured the Jolly Ten luncheon event, Thursday, in the home of Mrs. William McIver, on Park avenue.

Covers were placed for nine guests including Mrs. Frank McArthur, of Youngstown. Table decorations were in red and green, suggestive of the season.

After the afternoon, the women had an informal time and it was planned to have the December 20 gathering at the home of Mrs. Harvey Gwin, on Glenmore boulevard.

At McDevitt Home

At the home of Mrs. J. P. McDevitt, on Croton avenue, Friday evening, F. S. C. Club members had an enjoyable time playing 500. Prizes fell to Mrs. Marian Waters and Mrs. Minnie Devlin, and in a guessing contest, Miss Mary Rodgers was fortunate. Miss Waters helped with a dainty refreshment.

On December 27, Mrs. Francis Daugherty, will be hostess, at her home, on Grandview avenue.

Young Matron Club

The Young Matron Club, recently organized, met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Pia of South Lafayette street, marking their second session.

Chat, and sewing whiled away the time, and refreshments were served at a suitable hour by the hostess.

The members assembled each Thursday evening, the next to take place with Mrs. Charles Chambers on Clayton street.

Cleopatra Club

Martha Francis, of Ridge street, entertained the Cleopatra club on Friday evening.

After a business meeting games and taffy pulling were enjoyed. Plans were made for a Christmas party at the home of Eileen Waldorf Milton street, on the next meeting date.

The Bingy Brown club meeting schedule for Monday, December 10, has been postponed to meet on Friday afternoon, December 14 at 2 o'clock.

LUTHERAN WOMEN HAVE YULETIDE FETE

One of the most delightful of the pre-holiday events was the silver coffee given Friday evening in the rooms of St. John's Lutheran church with the members of the Ladies' Aid Society as hostesses.

Spruce, lighted Christmas trees and holly were combined to give a festive air to the rooms, while red tapers glowed on each of the small tables.

A musical program included a piano number by Barbara Schulz; vocal number, Mrs. Ben Agnew; reading, Vivian Jones; accordion and harmonica numbers, E. F. Knobloch; cornet solo, Steve Kleckner, Jr., accompanied by his mother; vocal number, Betty Woodring; reading, Patricia Blaine; piano number, Mrs. Raymond Gustafson and music by boys of St. Paul's church. The program concluded with the entire assemblage singing "The Old Spinning Wheel."

Refreshments concluded a most interesting evening.

MERRY WIDOWS NEW ORGANIZATION NAME

Not to be outdone by their husbands who have recently decided to have stag bridge parties fortnightly, a group of young women have formed a club for Friday evenings and have called themselves the Merry Widows.

Last night they assembled in the home of Mrs. Charles Lumley, on Meyer avenue, and had a delightful time playing bridge, with the favors falling to Mrs. C. M. Booher and Mrs. A. Pearson Furst.

Luncheon was served at the dining room table which was attractive with Christmas suggestions, candles, variegated Christmas trees and holly leaves. Covers were arranged for Mrs. C. M. Booher, Mrs. A. Pearson Furst, Mrs. Russell McClelland, Mrs. Charles Lumley, Mrs. William Lowman, Mrs. Ronald McCoy and two single girls, Misses Janet Waddell and Leola Johnson.

The next meeting will be in the McClelland home, on North street, December 21.

WESONO CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE MEETING

Miss Stella Malloy of Leisure avenue, received the Wesono club members in her home Thursday evening for an informal event. The hours were devoted to a contest in bridge, trophies for honor scores being captured by Helen Malloy and Cordelia Edgington.

A delicious lunch was later served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Freda Zents. The seasons tones predominated in the appointments.

In two weeks Rose Uhl, of North Beaver street will entertain.

Mahoning Book Club

Seventeen members of the Mahoning Book Club assembled on Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. W. Hamilton, West Madison avenue and enjoyed a pleasant period of chat together.

After roll call books were exchanged. A splendid current event discussion proved most interesting.

Mrs. Hamilton was assisted by Mrs. V. F. McClurg in serving a very delicious lunch.

The next meeting will be on December 27 at the home of Mrs. David Mackey, Winter avenue.

Sicilian Club

Mrs. Josephine Gennaula, of 805 Emerson avenue, was a charming hostess on Thursday evening when she received the members of the Sicilian Club in her home.

Plans were made for a New Year's party, during the usual business session. Cards proved the popular pastime. Miss Ida Fialla, a special guest, won the prize. Delicious refreshments were served late in the evening.

Bertha Girls

The Bertha Girls of the First M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Eleanor Everett, 317 Meyer avenue, on Monday evening, December 10.

Parent-Teacher Associations

The executives of the Hickory Heights Parent-Teacher Association met Friday evening at the home of Miss Helen Colchicki, R. D. 5, to plan for coming activities.

The Association will present a play, "The Hitchhiker Post," Thursday evening, December 13, at the school and all children attending must be accompanied by their parents.

Miss Colchicki served a dainty lunch ere the meeting adjourned.

CLASS MEMBERS JOIN IN PARTY

The Christmas spirit is felt in all the social events of the past week and will prevail until the holidays have passed. Friday evening a merry time was enjoyed by the members of the Philathea class of the Emmanuel Baptist church when they met in the home of Mrs. Marian Manley, East Reynolds street.

The early part of the evening was given over to business, with officers elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Loris Houk, vice president, Mrs. Olive Thomas; secretary, Miss Anna Jones; treasurer, Mrs. Selma Curry; teacher and reporter, Mrs. W. P. Vogan.

A beautiful gift was presented to Mrs. Vogan, teacher of the class, as an appreciation of her services the past year, the presentation being made by Mrs. Keith Van Fossen, the retiring president; in turn, Mrs. Van Fossen was presented with a gift in recognition of her work during her term of office. An exchange of gifts was made among all the members.

The refreshments and appointments further carried out the Yuletide spirit when Mrs. Vogan assisted the hostess in serving.

January 4 the group will meet with Mrs. Olive Thomas, Electric street.

COVERED DISH LUNCHEON EVENT

Delightfully informal was an assembly of G. G. G. Kensington associates Thursday noon, in the home of Mrs. Roy A. Long, on Neshannock boulevard. This group has met irregularly for many years, for a social afternoon, and they plan to meet more often this winter.

A covered dish luncheon was the initial feature, with covers for nine members and two guests, the hostess' daughter, Frances, and Miss Marian Lockhart. Table decorations were a lighted Christmas tree, in miniature, poinsettias and red candles.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Ira Alford invited the club to her Adams street home, January 10.

Iona Kensington.

After a period of almost a year's recess, the Iona Kensington resumed social gatherings Thursday afternoon by having luncheon in the Croton avenue home of Mrs. Henry Duffner. Music and conversation were additional diversions and Mrs. Edward Carr invited her associates for luncheon December 20.

Team Will Dine

The team of the Daughters of Union Veterans will have the annual Christmas dinner Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock in the City building.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Rebekah Chapter
Mrs. Glenn Carpenter, 218 Edgewood avenue, was hostess to members of the Rebekah Chapter of the First United Presbyterian church Friday evening in her home with Miss Rebekah Browne opening the meeting.

Mrs. Thomas Davis had charge of the program on "Ethiopia and the Sudan, with Marie Smith and Lillian Fehl assisting her.

Plans were made for the annual birthday tureen dinner for Friday, December 14, in the church, when each member will bring a guest and pennies for the years of their ages.

Hostesses for the evening were Harriet Smith, Nancy Gordon and Fern Loudon, with Mrs. Carpenter.

S. Of U. V. Meeting
The Sons of Union Veterans Fife and Drum Corps will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the Sons Hall at the city building.

Epworth Society
The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Epworth M. E. held an interesting meeting in the church on Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. M. Wimmer led a short prayer service followed by a memory tribute to Mrs. J. A. McConnell, by Mrs. J. P. Allen.

A business period was in order, with Mrs. W. J. Marshall, presiding. Activities opened with a program. Mrs. H. G. Voorhees and Mrs. Dick giving the first feature, a dialogue, "The Star of Bethlehem."

Mrs. J. G. Porrett and Mrs. Ray Muder read stories from "The Friend."

Mrs. Maude Montgomery gave a fine talk that was most interesting. Mrs. J. E. Jackson gave an interesting review of two chapters of the study book, centered on "New Opportunities for Japanese Women."

Mrs. T. M. Shaffer, Mrs. P. H. Kearns, Mrs. Edward Mayberry and Mrs. Frank Cypher served refreshments, at the close of the meeting.

Willing Hands Class.

The Willing Hands class of the Calvary Presbyterian church motored to Ellwood City Friday evening to the home of Mrs. Henry Drotloff for an evening of business and sociability.

Shirley Maxwell was in charge of the games, with Anne Moser and Helen Hanna winning the prizes.

Late in the evening the hostess invited the group to the dining room where an oyster supper was served at a table suggestive of Christmas; the committee aiding included Violet Zeigler, Margaret Phillips and Malinda Walker.

Government Will Enlist More
Lawrence Youths, Relief
Office Learns

A new enlistment for Civilian Conservation Corps men will be carried out in Lawrence, Butler and Mercer counties between January 1 and 13, Roger M. Ormond, assistant executive director of Emergency relief Area No. 10, announced here today.

Only unmarried boys between the ages of 18 and 25 who are members of families on relief will be eligible, as always, Mr. Ormond reminded. But any youth who is interested and who meets the qualifications will be given consideration if he applies to his relief office.

Groups are to be chosen from the three counties that comprise Area 10, it is said.

I DON'T SEE WHY
My mind informs me coldly that I shouldn't give money to people who stop me on the street. My heart tells me that it's better to be an easy mark than to be sorry I didn't give. Sometimes I give and sometimes I don't.

I tell myself sternly that life is too short for me to spend any part of it sitting at a bridge table with thirteen cards in my hand. And yet, I find bridge a great pleasure. I should read only the best, the most "significant" books, and ruthlessly refuse to read anything that is written merely to while away the hours. But I don't. A trashy book at certain times gives me as much pleasure as a masterpiece.

A perfectly made vegetable salad is a lovely sight—with the crisp green lettuce, the lovely red of the sliced tomatoes, the delicate green of the sliced cucumbers, and the curls of bell pepper here and there and the dabs of yellow mayonnaise. But a tough steak pleases me more. Theoretically, I would be a vegetarian, and I do not like the idea of mankind surviving at the expense of animal life. Frequently when I gnaw on a bone, I am reminded, not too pleasantly, that I am a carnivorous mammal. But I know I shall never be a vegetarian.

I talk about politics and discuss the chances of this candidate and that one and sometimes I come close to losing my temper in arguments. But actually I don't care which man is elected and which defeated. After all, their ambitions are not mine.

I say I am not superstitious. It seems absurd to be afraid to light three cigarettes on one match, or to knock on wood, or to bother myself with such savage nonsense. But when I was a boy I remember that I would never step on a crack or pass a fence post without touching it. And I think there must be a vein of superstition in everybody.

I would like to be neat and tidy, not exactly a fashion plate or a Beatty Brummel, but something on that order. Then why do my shoes need shining and why didn't I go to the barber's last week?

STAGNATION CAUSES LOSS OF FRIENDS

Some of your former friends have drifted away from you. You attribute this to the financial success which they have achieved and think they are being "high-tailed" out.

This may be all in your imagination—it may be due to your stagnation.

You are contented to go along year in and year out without any definite effort to progress.

You are no better informed than you were a year ago.

The subjects you discuss, you might have discussed as well ten years ago.

You have been content to limit your expenditures to the point which permits you to jog along in the same old way, but you make no effort to better yourself.

Old friends are good enough for you, so you make no effort to modernize.

In your home and in your dress you are almost stationary.

You should not be surprised that these old friends, who have been energetic and progressive, should attach themselves to those more like themselves.

They do things that you cannot afford to do, for one thing.

Your old friends are kind not to ask you to do things that they know would embarrass you.

You don't want to tempt you to go beyond your means and general fitness for a higher social position and they are wise in their decision.

SHE REJECTS A COLD BUSINESS POLICY

"Our Christmas list is much too long."

"I'll cut it down," said she. "No gift I'll send to a friend who does not give to me. With scars and ties I will be wise. 'Tis time to practice thrift. Our Christmas cheer will go this year."

To those who need the gift."

Said I: "That sounds like common sense!"

I think your judgment right. So now prepare your list with care. Offhand I'd say this Christmas day we safely may conclude our policy should be careful and sensible and shrewd."

I left her working at her list. But when I came from town she sadly cried: "Though hard I tried."

I could not cut it down! To save I know we ought, but oh! I haven't quite the knack. I'd think about the friends cut out. And always put them back."

"I've argued with myself all day. My feelings to resist. But here it ends. We love our friends."

And why should one be misused? I hate a gift that preaches thrift. Or cost too closely viewed. At Christmas we must loving be. Not sensible and shrewd!"

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:09.

It has been so long since we have heard of a newly rich family we are wondering if there are any such more.

One of the best known citizens—regarded as one of the city's richest—was in the city the other day. "My wife is doing the family washing and she's happier than she has been in years."

Improvement of Cascade street by RWD works ought to be but the beginning of such improvements in New Castle. There has been a feeling for some time that too much work is being put on parks and not enough on streets. This is a golden opportunity for getting worthwhile work done at a minimum expense to the city or county. There are many streets, roads and alleys that would be tickled to receive attention.

The public, which thinks a boy will never amount to anything, changes its mind when he shoots a basket the last minute of the play and wins the game.

Long, look long and you will be blessed: No one worth possessing Can be quite possessed.

Better liquor and lower prices are predicted by the government alcohol control board for next year. That board don't seem to have much control as we see whiskey advertised as pure stuff from $1.50 to $8.00 a quart. Maybe its just in the advertising.

When one doctor says modern feminine dress is to blame for many ills, and another on the same day tells the girls they are clothed more sensibly than the men, we see the difficulty in adjusting our conduct by truly "scientific" principles.

If you are thinking of giving a gold piece for a Christmas present this year we don't know where you are going to get it unless you have it in your sock. And this reminds us of a story we heard of an Englishman who was making his second visit to this country. In New York he was asked if he noticed any difference here. "Yes," said he, "when I was here before a man could be arrested if he walked down Broadway with a bottle on his hip. Now he can carry all the bottles he wants to but can be arrested if he has a gold coin in his pocket."

Word from the hill country is that the Most Omnipotent Master of the lodge was at the meeting the other evening because his wife wouldn't let him get out of the house.

But then there was the girl who said "yes, dear, we can be married and live happily on the county welfare."

The quickest way to increase the birth rate would be to advertise for baby movie stars.

The only advantage of following the crowd is that you'll be the first one out.

It's safe to predict most any kind of cold weather now.

So many people abuse the English language by saying "The last time I was in Europe" instead of "When I was in Europe."

When forty million people are on relief in the United States there is something radically wrong? Who will be the Moses that will lead us out of this wilderness? That is about one-third our population.

The most effective punishment of a reckless automobile driver, says St. Louis Post Dispatch, is suspension of his license. Fines and even jail sentences do not create fear among many drivers for various reasons, but if one knows there is a chance that he will be deprived of the right to drive, thus interfering with his pleasure, convenience or business, he will probably regard safety rules with some degree of respect. But laws providing for the suspension of licenses must be air-tight, and he who repeats a violation just once, and gets caught at it, must feel certain that he is through driving for a considerable period of time.

Business reports indicate that merchants may expect the biggest Christmas trade since 1931. All ready our local merchants are beginning to feel the benefits of Christmas buying. It's going to be like a snowball get bigger and bigger, from day to day until December 25. The merchants who let the people know what they have for sale are the ones who are going to swell their bank accounts.

Notice an item which says that an Evans City youth is suffering from a broken jaw as a result of having been struck by a "friend." If that's the way that friend treats friend in Evans City the more enemies a man can have in that burg the better.

Every once in a while you hear some one declare that "there ought to be a law against it." Look over the statute books and you'll probably find there is. There are hundreds of laws that nobody seems to know anything about. What this state needs worse than anything else is a session of the legislature devoted to the repeal of laws.

Ask anybody who has three cars and he will tell you an average family should live nicely on $12 a week.

North hill folks report having seen several robins browsing about recently. Farmers tell us the cat-corn failed to grow a luxurious crop about storing up nuts. It is said that hen turkeys which seldom lay eggs after June are starting to lay again. Either we're going to have a mild winter or nature has gone Democratic.

The machine menace began with the bicycle and now with the additions we have plenty of time to ride it.

The college professors surely cannot say they have not been getting plenty of attention and also criticism in Washington. Every college professor also seems to have his leg.

In baseball it requires three umpires to see a man slide into second while in football the gaze of the referee is supposed to penetrate an atmosphere foggy with arms and legs.

After experts had examined the dome of the capitol at Washington they pronounced it in perfect condition. We hope all the domes that will be there this winter will be found in the same shape.

There are many tests for high blood pressure, but just about the severest one of all is seeing a fellow who owes you money driving a new car.

"Don't you know it is wrong to fight," said a mother in scolding her boy.

"Yes, but the boy who was fighting me didn't know it," replied the lad.

Only a few moderns can plead as old-time revivalists did, and they are making sales talks over the radio.

Wars will end when a neighbor's brats break your windows and you chuckle about it.

If Nature is so smart, how come the hair you need falls out and teeth you don't want have to be pulled.

It's pretty hard for an observant man not to get more or less harrowed as time goes on, for while your sympathy for the poor, wronged young woman who has been obliged to divorce the brute is still in its most acute stage, she marries someone even worse.

Progressives Aroused Fear "Side-tracking" In Congress
Long And Coughlin

Central Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Rumors that President Roosevelt desires a "short session" of congress have aroused Progressives.

They will try to prevent it. They hear that the president will try to sidetrack what they consider basic reforms, in favor of expansion of the New Deal on its present base.

There is a new phase that has come into being, a phrase believed to have been first spoken by Henry Pratt Fairchild—a New Deal instead of the government.

An income tax limiting incomes to $10,000 a year; anything beyond that to accrue to the government.

THE REV. COUGHLIN'S National Union of Social Justice advocates: Government limitation of the profits acquired by industry.

Federal supervision of industry so that labor will be supplied all needs for "an honest livelihood."

Government assurance that industrial goods will be "secured" until every person is amply supplied.

Enforcement of minimum annual wages and maximum working schedules, licensing of factories and limitation of output, if necessary.

Establishment of vocational groups, or unionization of all workers, not the present-day 12 per cent.

Protection and guidance of labor in its negotiations with capital, by the federal department of labor.

Elimination of strikes and lockouts in favor of public authority.

OPENING GUNS OF "WAR"? As predicted in this column 10 days ago, large rubber companies in Akron, O., will be the battering ram of large industry against the national labor relations board.

The B. F. Goodrich Co. and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. petitioned the United States circuit court of appeals in Cincinnati to review a decision of the national labor relations board ordering an election of employees under NLRB supervision.

"Predictions were made freely here that this may be the opening gun of the country's next major labor war."

"This move came on the deadline set for the tire companies to surrender their payroll lists to Ralph A. Lind, regional labor director."

GREEN'S WORDS Since the battle of the Akron tire companies against the national labor relations board is looked upon as a national issue both by industry and labor, the words of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, are potent. Mr. Green says:

"Such defiant action on the part of corporations to constituted authority and orderly processes serves to breed social unrest and industrial discontent."

ascended the throne of Sweden on her 18th birthday.

She was king, not queen! Brought up in as masculine a way as possible she had herself crowned king in succession to her father when he died in battle in Austria, after having conquered Russia, Poland, Germany and Denmark.

Dec. 8, 1810—Elihu Burritt, was born in New Britain, Conn. the son of a shoemaker. TWO REASONS.

Republicans are wondering what hit them on November 6th last. It is not hard to explain.

The voter received during the campaign, in his mail box, two letters. One was from Chairman Henry Fletcher of the Republican National Committee and it told the voter that "your liberties are being taken from you."

The other was from the Democratic Administration at Washington and it said: "Enclosed find check."

The checks were for AAA benefits, or for relief, or what not. It is impossible to fight "Santa Claus."

Special Services At Third Church

Former Jewish Officer Of Germany's Army Will Speak At The Morning Session

Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, announces two special services of interest for Sunday.

At the 11 a. m. service the Rev. Oscar Wago, a Hebrew of Pittsburgh, who was at one time one of the high officers of the German army, a distinction that has been held by only five Jews. The Rev. Wago has now two sons in Germany, but he cannot enter Germany and his sons cannot leave. He will have as his subject, "Is God Through with the Jews?"

The evening service will be one of song and music, with Miss Esther Gibbons and her large chorus of girls from the Ben Franklin Junior high school will present a Christmas program.

Rev. John Solomon At Epworth Church

A sermon that will interest both Jew and Gentile will be given Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Epworth Methodist church when the Rev. John Solomon, Hebrew from Pittsburgh, will speak.

He will have as his subject "The Lord's Supper in the Light of the Jewish Passover" and will illustrate this by using the original emblems. He will also speak on the influence that caused him to turn from Judaism to Christianity.

At 7:30 p. m. Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor, will speak on "Jesus Finding a Man" and a large choir will sing special numbers both morning and evening.

Young People To Present Service

Sunday evening in the St. Paul's Lutheran church, West Grant street, the young people of the congregation will have charge of the services, with Miss Lillian Hartman as the leader.

The theme of the program will be "Things for Which We Should Be Thankful." William J. Gregor will conduct the opening period and the choir will sing the anthem, "Praise the Lord," and Lillian Hartman will conduct the lesson, followed by a reading, "The First Thanksgiving."

The Rev. A. M. Stump will pronounce the benediction.

Picture Service At Christian Church

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, plans to give one of his beautifully illustrated lectures Sunday evening at 7:30. This one will be "The Book of Ruth" and will tell the story of the life of Ruth, and the book of the Bible. Colorful slides will illustrate the lecture.

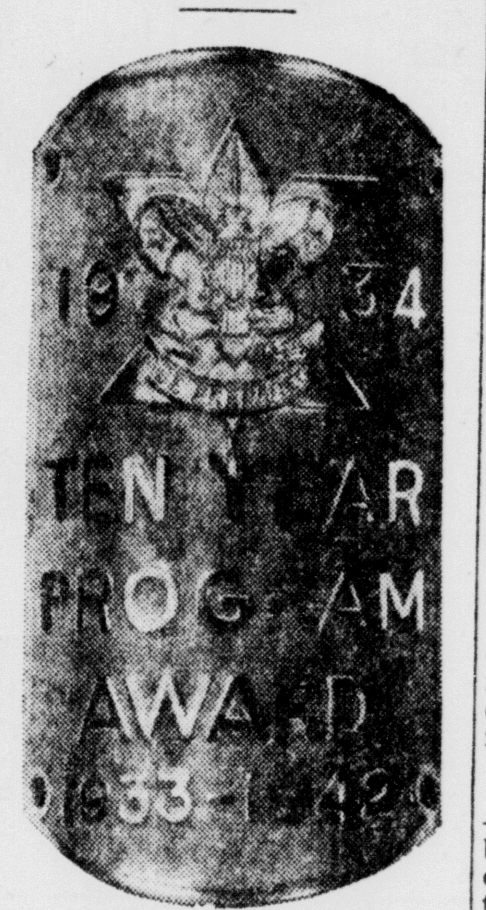

At the 11 a. m. service Dr. Bennett will observe national Bible Sunday, and by request his sermon will be "How We Got Our Bible."

ARMY MARCHES TOWARD SUCCESS

The Army of Progress of the First Baptist Sunday school has added 72 recruits to its ranks in the two months it has been marching toward a goal of 1,000 in membership. On the first Sunday of January, 1935, there will be a promotion of about 500 members.

Scouts To Vie For Handsome Medallion

Commissioner Davis Announces Group Is Eligible; Award Coveted One

A group of Lawrence county Boy Scout troops and possibly a Cub pack stand eligible to receive the coveted Ten Year medallion of the Boy Scouts of America, a reproduction of which is shown here, Commissioner Ralph F. Davis, of the Lawrence County council announced today.

"The ten year program," said Mr. Davis, "is a challenge to every scout troop in the nation to maintain a high quality, year-round program so that the interest of its members will be retained for at least a four-year period. With the goal of the program realized at the end of 1942, one out of every four boys of scout age will have been a scout and will have been under the influence of the varied aspects of the scout program for a period of four or more years."

This program of development affects 30,400 scout troops and 1,779 Cub packs in all parts of the United States and its possessions. It involves the time and energies of 209,000 volunteer leaders in the movement.

The medallion is designed to be displayed, Mr. Davis explained, on the flagstaff of the colors of the troops that earn it. It is a handsome blue and gold enamel metal shield shaped to fit on the flagstaff, the design showing a replica of the Boy Scout insignia crossed by the date "1914." Beneath is the inscription "Ten Year Award—1934." To earn this emblem a troop has to carry on a real program through the year and maintain high standards in attendance, membership, campaign, activities and registration.

SUNDAY, DEC. 9.

The World War Day-by-Day—Dec. 9, 1914—The solidification of the western front in trench along the Aisne and in Flanders gave Paris a reasonable assurance of safety, and the government returned to the capital from Bordeaux, where the President and his ministers had gone three months before while the German flood tide lapped at the Marne. No session of Parliament had been held at Bordeaux. Most deputies realized that a resumption of partisan political activity in the emergency capital would add to the country's alarm.

There was plenty for the ministers of government to do in Bordeaux. They had to plug up the holes in military equipment, food supplies and revenues made by the opening offensives. Shell shortage was the biggest problem, and there was a terrible insufficiency of medical services. Ambulances were inadequate; wounded had been left for days untended and dying in filth of horse trucks, hospitals were insufficient in number, and badly organized and equipped.

Censorship could not prevent the scandalous condition in the medical corps from being known and causing Millerand's government to quake. Clemenceau daily thundered against the rottenness in the hospital service. When censors suppressed his L'Homme Libre, he started paper, L'Homme Enchaîné, and continued his campaign.

The prodigious expenditure of ammunition during the first three months of war had depleted French arsenals, and for the greater part of the period thus far, Joffre, in his own word, could only nibble at the German line. Luckily for the Allies, the need the Kaiser was under to restore the confidence of the people of Germany and Austria-Hungary after the shaking victories of Russia in the East, prevented the Germans from taking advantages of the situation. The Germans in their anxiety over the situation on the eastern front, had stopped just short of Germany in the west. So many times Germany barely missed the goal!

History Up-to-Date—Dec. 9, 1608—John Milton was born, destined to become the greatest of English writers except one. He never was able to read his immortal masterpiece—Paradise Lost, for it was dictated to his daughters after he became blind. They grumbled about doing the work and left him! His earnings from the book were less than $100.

Dec. 9, 1830—The first locomotive built in the U. S. to be placed in actual service had its first tests.

Improvement For Business Likely Will Be Continued

Department Of Commerce Says Business Shows Nominal Gain, Is Report

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Continued business improvement, in spite of its nominal gain, was seen Friday by the department of commerce in its survey of current business.
Industrial production was made moderately higher in October, with employment and payrolls recovering from the September setback.
Meanwhile William Green, president of the A. F. of L., reported there was no seasonal decline in building trades employment last month for the first time on record.
Among favorable factors the commerce department's survey found a favorable turn in the construction industry as well as October gains in textiles, iron and steel, rubber tires and tubes and plate glass.

MONEY IS PROVIDED FOR STATE WORKERS
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 8.—Threats of a payless payday for state employees on December 15 were dissipated today with receipt of $814,000 from the register of will of Montgomery county, representing the inheritance tax paid on the estate of the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis, prominent publisher.
Before arrival of the check today, the general fund had only slightly in excess of $1,000,000, hardly enough to pay state workers and the running expenses of the government.

Stock Market Tone Easier

Distinctly Different Tone To Market Owing To War Scare In Europe

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Profit taking combined with some speculative selling inspired by the European war scare talk gave the stock market a distinctly easier tone today.

Trading tapered off appreciably on the reaction and turnover for the session was substantially under yesterday's total for the first 2 hours.

The easier tendencies were most pronounced in the railroad shares with Union Pacific down more than a point. The selling of the rails was apparently due to the sharp decline in car loadings and also to the comparatively unfavorable October earnings reports which are still being issued.

Liggett & Myers was a weak spot in the tobacco shares dropping about a point on profit taking. In some brokerage quarters some of the selling was attributed to fears of a decline in sales due to the New York City sales tax.

There was little to feature the action of the industrial shares where United States Steel and other favorites ruled lower.

Utilities drifted lower along with the rest of the list. Consolidated Gas, North American and other active issues dipped slightly.

Oils were inclined to be heavy with Texas Corp., down moderately. Chemicals were featured by a 2 point decline in Allied Chemical.

To Aid Defense Of Those Accused In Assassination

U. S. Lawyer To Be Retained To Aid In Defense Of Slaying Suspects

DENY DEATH PLOT IN YOUNGSTOWN, O.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—Ante Valenta, representative of the Supreme Council of the Defenders of Croatia, revealed plans here today for the retention of "an outstanding American lawyer" to defend those accused in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

A defense fund for those who have been or may be arrested in connection with the fatal shooting of Alexander at Marseilles, France, in October is being raised among supporters of the "independent Croatian state" movement, Valenta said. Selection of the attorney will be made by Croatian leaders in America, the international organizer for the independent movement asserted.

In response to charges made in Geneva that Croats, meeting in Youngstown, O., had passed a death sentence on Alexander, Valenta said: "The Croatian national congress, meeting in Youngstown, passed a resolution declaring that the Croats, Valenta explained, have notified the League of Nations that they want the full freedom of their country and if they don't get it they have the full right to fight for it."

He denied, however, any knowledge of a formal vote on the subject having been taken last summer. The Croats, Valenta explained, have notified the League of Nations that they want the full freedom of their country and if they don't get it they have the full right to fight for it.

If your eyes are bothering you from overuse, try bathing them in salt water before retiring. One-half teaspoon of salt to each cup of water is the proportion, and it should be applied as hot as it can be borne.

New Wilmington News

P. T. A. MEETING
Election of permanent officers for the newly formed Parent-Teachers' Association will take place at a meeting of the organization at the local school house, according to Mrs. James McLaughry, temporary chairman of the organization.

The local P. T. A. was organized last month by Mrs. Carrie Roberts of New Castle, president of the Lawrence county council P. T. A. and Mrs. McLaughry was chosen temporary head.

CLASS MEETS
Mrs. Florence Cummings of Ray St. New Castle, Pa., proved a delightful hostess to members of the Young Ladies Class of the M. E. church on Friday night when they congregated for their regular monthly meeting.

A short business session was held during the evening after which a social hour was enjoyed. Culminating the evening entertainment was a delightful luncheon served at an appointed hour by the hostess.

NACCANNA CLUB
Mrs. Jack Lewis, of West Neshannock avenue dispensed charming hospitality to member of the Macanna club at her home last night.

A good attendance was present to enjoy the social hour, the business meeting and the delightful refreshments served by the hostess.

NEW WILMINGTON NOTES
Miss Mona Swash and Geoffrey Sowash were shoppers in New Castle on Friday.

Miss Jane Weller was a recent visitor at her home in Pittsburgh. Relatives here have received word of the death of Mrs. George B. Conway, Helena, Montana, which occurred last Saturday afternoon following a lengthy illness.

GET DEER, RETURN HOME
Charles Koski, of East New Castle, and his son, L. G. Koski, East Washington street, have returned to their homes here following a successful hunting jaunt into Elk county.

Both brought bucks back with them.

They traveled in a cozy house car owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Horton, of Martville, N. Y.

E. A. Koski, also of the New York town, was another member of the party.

Caliphs Have Ceremonial On Friday Night

Gathering from the hot sands of many deserts, the Caliphs of Baghdad held a ceremonial in the Cathedral Friday night with all the pomp and circumstance that usually mark such gatherings. About 100 of the faithful saw a group of 30 candidates take the trip across the sands, and if the way was studied with obstacles, it was only the common to all.

The Imperial Caliph, Howard B. Richards, of Birmingham, Ala., had promised to be present for the occasion, but urgent business at the last minute prevented his attendance.

His subordinates here carried through the work, although his presence was missed in a marked manner.

Following the degree work a program of entertainment, consisting of a group of acts from Pittsburgh, of the later hours and at the close of the entertainment the guests partook of a buffet lunch in the Cathedral dining room.

Westfield Women Complete Quilts
Margaret Henry Home kiddies will be the warmer this cold weather under two new quilts which were completed recently and presented to the home by the King's Daughters Society of the Westfield Presbyterian church.

Eighteen women, present in the home of Miss Florence Ehle at Mt. Jackson, finished the quilting at an all-day meeting. An excellent dinner was served at noon, after which the regular business session and program was held. Frances Fullerton gave a talk on the topic of the day, southern mountains in Islam, while two chapters in the study book, "The Expansion of the Gospel," were reviewed.

Mrs. Dorothy Spear spoke on "Yesterday and Today," one chapter, and Mrs. Grace Wallace outlined another, "Bridging the Generations."

Miss Margaret Duff was present and spoke of the welfare work being done among the miners at Avela, Pa., where she is located.

Fine Imposed For Reckless Driving
S. N. Womer, said to be from Grove City, entered a plea of guilty before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at county court, yesterday and was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge.

The information was made by State Highway Patrolman L. J. Lawton, before Squire Eakin of Harlansburg, where a plea was also entered. Womer was arrested on the Perry highway.

On Court House Hill
Motion for judgment for want of an appearance has been made by the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company against Samuel Edelstein, executor in the estate of H. Edelstein, deceased, and Meyer Levine.

Register of graves, Thomas Edmunds, is preparing a list of all the soldiers of all wars, buried in the different cemeteries of Lawrence county. One copy will be sent to each cemetery, and another to the state department of vital statistics.

William Walton of Hickory township was at the court house yesterday and obtained from the county commissioners permission to use one of the court rooms on Monday evening for a meeting of the Milk Producers of Lawrence county. There is a project on foot to revive the Western Pennsylvania Milk Dealers Association in Allegheny, Beaver, Butler, Green, Washington, Westmoreland and Lawrence counties. An effort will be made to get through the next legislative bills that will benefit milk producers.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has been busy taking prisoners to different institutions during the past few days. Mike Jeannot, who was charged with violating his parole, was taken to Huntingdon Industrial Reform School. Alonzo Matthews was taken to Torrence hospital and Roxie Long was taken to the Allegheny county workhouse. Roxie was convicted at a recent term of court on charges of conspiracy to defraud wholesale merchants. He was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the Allegheny county workhouse. Several others, including his wife, Virginia Long, who were implicated with him in the conspiracy case, were paroled. Long hired a room in the seventh ward, had groceries shipped to it under the pretext of starting a grocery, and then hauled the goods to Pittsburgh, without the formality of settling with the wholesalers.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has received a post card from Attorney Clyde V. Alley, expressing regrets that he was unable to visit the court house and say good-bye to officials before he left for California. He had intended to go to the court house the day before he left, he said, but was prevented by a bad cold. The postcard was mailed from some point in Arizona, and was evidently down on his trip. As stated in yesterday's News he was unable to drive his car and had to get a driver to take him through to California.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has returned from a deer hunt in the northern part of the state. He failed to get any deer, and left twelve pounds of his own, which he says is more gratifying to him than getting an eight point buck. He saw several deer, however, and blazed away at three of them, but they were too fast to catch up. The bullets he reports having hit a good time as he was successful in doing the bullets of all the other hunters.

According to word from Harrisburg Secretary of Highways, Samuel B. Lewis, who has done so much for Lawrence county highways, and whose salary is $12,000 a year will be able to retire on a $4,000 a year pension from the State Employee's retirement fund. He began state employment about 16 years ago as a clerk in the auditor general's department. He has served as deputy auditor general, auditor general, state treasurer and highway secretary. His retirement annuity, in view of the act that he is 60 years old, will be as high as is possible for an official, excluding judges of the higher courts, to receive.

There is a project on foot to revive the Western Pennsylvania Milk Dealers Association in Allegheny, Beaver, Butler, Green, Washington, Westmoreland and Lawrence counties. An effort will be made to get through the next legislative bills that will benefit milk producers.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has been busy taking prisoners to different institutions during the past few days. Mike Jeannot, who was charged with violating his parole, was taken to Huntingdon Industrial Reform School. Alonzo Matthews was taken to Torrence hospital and Roxie Long was taken to the Allegheny county workhouse. Roxie was convicted at a recent term of court on charges of conspiracy to defraud wholesale merchants. He was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the Allegheny county workhouse. Several others, including his wife, Virginia Long, who were implicated with him in the conspiracy case, were paroled. Long hired a room in the seventh ward, had groceries shipped to it under the pretext of starting a grocery, and then hauled the goods to Pittsburgh, without the formality of settling with the wholesalers.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has received a post card from Attorney Clyde V. Alley, expressing regrets that he was unable to visit the court house and say good-bye to officials before he left for California. He had intended to go to the court house the day before he left, he said, but was prevented by a bad cold. The postcard was mailed from some point in Arizona, and was evidently down on his trip. As stated in yesterday's News he was unable to drive his car and had to get a driver to take him through to California.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has returned from a deer hunt in the northern part of the state. He failed to get any deer, and left twelve pounds of his own, which he says is more gratifying to him than getting an eight point buck. He saw several deer, however, and blazed away at three of them, but they were too fast to catch up. The bullets he reports having hit a good time as he was successful in doing the bullets of all the other hunters.

According to word from Harrisburg Secretary of Highways, Samuel B. Lewis, who has done so much for Lawrence county highways, and whose salary is $12,000 a year will be able to retire on a $4,000 a year pension from the State Employee's retirement fund. He began state employment about 16 years ago as a clerk in the auditor general's department. He has served as deputy auditor general, auditor general, state treasurer and highway secretary. His retirement annuity, in view of the act that he is 60 years old, will be as high as is possible for an official, excluding judges of the higher courts, to receive.

Vets Auxiliary Plans Activities

Christmas Party For Kiddies With Other Events Arranged At Meeting

One of the most interesting meetings of the year of the Ladies Auxiliary, of Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, took place on Thursday evening in the Legion Home, with President Ruth Conner, presiding.

Reports were made on the recent card party which took place in the Legion Home with Mrs. Etta Keeler in charge, and of the turkey dinner, served the post and auxiliary members and their families. Plans were also outlined for the next card party on Wednesday evening, December 12, which will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. Adella Evans, assisted by Viola Ryhal, Emma Wood, and Mabel Kennedy. Lunch will be served by the Kitchen Committee, headed by Mrs. Elsie Lach.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller was named chairman of arrangements for the auxiliary, for a joint Christmas party with the Post, which will be in the form of a turkey dinner. The Post will furnish the treat for the kiddies and the ladies will take care of the dinner. This will be for members of the post and auxiliary and their immediate families only.

Members of the auxiliary were again reminded to bring their old silk hose and underwear to the Legion Home and for them to solicit their friends for these articles, which will be taken to the U. S. Veterans hospital at Aspinwall on December 15, by president Ruth Conner, Hospital chairman Betty Stoner, and Frank Conner, post commander.

Arrangements were made for the attendance of the local auxiliary members at the Tri-County Council meeting in Butler, next Thursday evening, when the annual election of officers will take place.

At the close of the business session, a joint party was held with members of the Service Star Legion, as a farewell courtesy to Mrs. Leona Smith, who is leaving to make her home in Akron. This was in the form of a handkerchief shower. Bingo was played, prizes going to Mrs. Elsie Staebler, and Mrs. Winifred Nicklin.

Lunch was served by the presidents of the two organizations, Mrs. Ruth Conner and Mrs. Lucy Woolley. The next meeting of the auxiliary will take place December 20.

Catholic Club Names Officers
Officers for 1935 were elected on Thursday evening when the Catholic club met in the club rooms on South Mill street.

John Gairdo was elected president. Other officers: Charles Foster, vice president; Louis Ross, secretary; Dan Natale, treasurer; Samuel Bounpane, Fritz Ziegler, Sam Ross and Monte Yerage, trustees; social committee consists of Ted DeRoss, Peter Zingaro, Joseph Pascarella, Charles Yerage, Sam Copple, sergeant-at-arms, Benjamin Santanargo, steward.

Refreshments were served following the meeting. The remainder of the evening was whittled away playing bridge. The next meeting will be held on December 29.

With New Castle Afro-Americans
The Sunshine Kensington club will meet Monday evening at the Y. W. C. A. on Elm street.

SPECIAL PROGRAM
The St. Paul Baptist B. Y. P. U. will meet with the Second Baptist B. Y. P. U. Sunday at 5:30 o'clock at the Second Baptist church, for a special program. Those taking part, include Mrs. D. Nelson, Cora Jones and Lillian Young, Marie Jones, Mrs. Filmore, Theodore Simmons, Raymond McHenry and Emory Hambrick. John E. Young and Bea Moseley.

TRUCK DRIVERS ARE ON STRIKE
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—One hundred seventy-five trucks of three concerns under contract to haul foodstuffs for the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company were idle today while approximately 300 drivers went on strike for higher wages.

John Frankel, counsel for the local lodge of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, said the strike came as a result of failure of arbitration which has been going on for 30 days.

ACID THROWER IS HELD FOR COURT

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—Harry Truxell, 36, was charged with maliciously throwing acid and held for court today by Magistrate Anthony Lucas in north side police court.

Police arrested Truxell December 1 after, they said, he hurled acid into the face of Frank Simmons, 26, Truxell is said to have become enraged at finding Simmons in the company of Marie Curley, 29. The victim was treated for burns at Presbyterian hospital.

FARMER SENTENCED
ERIE, Pa., Dec. 8.—Pleading guilty to slaying his neighbor, Byron Runyan, 63, Albion farmer is under a sentence for the slaying of Santiago Garcia, 45, last August. He declined to tell Judge Usiah P. Rossiter why he shot his neighbor.

Officers said they believed he had resented alleged attention of Garcia to Mrs. Eva Williams, Runyan's stepdaughter.

3y ARTHUR BRISBANE

WHAT WOULD you call "woman's most important task and accomplishment in 1934?" Mr. Mayes asked that question. He is editor of Pictorial Review, an important magazine for women, circulating two million copies a month, recently purchased by William Randolph Hearst. The writer's answer to the question appears in the Pictorial Review for January, just published, first number under R. R. Hearst's ownership.

This individual tells Editor Mayes that the most important work done by women in 1934, or any other year, is creating the human race. In 1934, the women of the world produced more than THIRTY-TWO MILLION brand new babies.

If you have ever seen one baby born, you know what it means to produce 32 millions of them.

WHY TALK about other accomplishments of women? The Ruler of the Universe created two human beings, man and woman, then "RESTED". Woman created her family and then goes to work, taking care of it. The champion woman of 1934 is Mrs. Dionne, who had five little girls all at once, but that is too many.

All that men do really is done by the mothers that create the men.

AN INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE dispatch from London says:

"The United States today bluntly warned Japan that its insistence upon naval parity with American and British fleets threatens world peace and might precipitate a naval race."

Why, in Heaven's name, a NAVAL race? Doesn't the United States yet know that battleships will be only foolish targets for airplanes in another war?

What use is there in warning Japan or anybody else? Why not BE PREPARED, and say nothing?

AGAIN, THE United States' attention is called to the fact that there is no more talk of war between Japan and Russia. Russia has 900 powerful planes, capable of carrying enough bombs and gas to destroy every industrial plant in Japan and poison most of the employees. This Russian air fleet is at Vladivostok, six hours' easy flight from Tokio.

Also at Vladivostok in her new naval base, Russia has assembled a great fleet of powerful submarines of the latest type, only 450 miles from Japan's coast.

There is more genuine peace for Russia in that collection of airplanes and submarines than in all the talking that our diplomats could do in 100 years.

ONE RUSSION, Kirov, important in the government, close friend of Stalin, was assassinated. Within 24 hours 72 had been accused, and within one day 66, including one woman, were executed for complicity in the murder.

Following a custom, once universal, all property of the dead was confiscated by the government. Many more executions are expected, the accused not allowed to have lawyers, government employing no prosecutors, judges questioning, deciding, sentencing.

Fear has long been the ruling power in Russia. Czars sent Nihilists to Siberia. Nihilists murdered czars when they could, and murdered other officials frequently.

It was worse and more dramatic in the early days when Peter the Great executed in thousands those that opposed his plan.

On one occasion, torturing and killing conspirators against him on a high platform, he caused the corpses of other conspirators to be taken from their graves and dragged to the spot by swine attached to sleds, the corpses being put under the scaffold that the blood of fellow-conspirators might drop upon them.

Such methods are effective but bring reprisals.

COMMANDERS of ships looking for U.S. Skilling and Littlejohn believe that the three courageous airmen have lost their lives in their flight planned from Oakland to Australia, via Hawaii.

The fliers had lost their way and all the ships of the world could hardly hope to find a small plane, to which they may still be clinging somewhere in the wide Pacific. It is not pleasant to reflect on the long hours of slow despair that would precede the deaths of those three men, risking their lives with a smile. But all must die, all will soon be dead. The three will have the satisfaction of knowing that their names are written on a roll of honor, the roll of men not afraid to die in a good cause.

St. Michaels, Epworth-Hearts League Winners

St. Michaels Defeat First M. E., Epworth Tops Christians, And Hearts Win

St. Michaels church basketball team served notice on the New Castle church league last night at the "Y" floor with a 36 to 12 victory over the first M. E. team in a Church League tilt, with Balla and Motosko the big point getters.

The Epworth M. E. team handled the First Christians a 20 to 17 setback in a fast and well played game, with Reed and Morrison doing the bulk of the scoring.

The Sacred Hearts took a 23 to 20 decision from the Tifereth Israel team, with P. Viganio, Merando and Sak Levin the most prominent scorers.

THE SPORT PATROL

ARMY'S ELIGIBILITY RULE

Every year, after the football season closes it is the custom for all and sundry to howl about West Point's rule which allows the Cadets to play football regardless of whether or not they have had three years of previous playing in a college.

Usually the criticism is aroused by a trimming the Soldiers have given the Navy but this season, since the Middies defeated the Cadets, we presume it is coming merely as a matter of custom.

This topic has been revived annually for quite a few years now but the West Point officials haven't changed the rule. And why should they?

There is no necessity for the annual criticism at all. West Point has been operating successfully under capable officers without advice from the mob of football well-wishers. The military school is still turning out fine young men the like of which any university would be proud.

Why do the institutions have athletic competition, in the first place? They all claim it is because of the physical and character building qualities it instills in the youth.

Sure being the case, a boy shouldn't be deprived of this advantage at West Point because he had previous training at a college when the chances are 1000 to 1 the disciplinary training at the college was inferior to that taught at the military academy.

The age limit for West Point entrance is 22 years. At that age a youth can still derive the benefits which come from athletic competition.

It would be a different story perhaps if it concerned law or medical schools where the students are usually much older and are kept busy in detailed study. But at a military school, where disciplinary training is stressed, the cadets can derive benefits from such character building methods.

The universities, the Big Ten included, should be the last to criticize the Army for its rules. While this eligibility rule itself may favor the Cadets, the rules as a whole, both scholastic and disciplinary, are much more strict at West Point than at the universities.

That doesn't mean the universities are lax in this department; military training calls for more stern discipline than does college education. However, it does mean that the colleges should have no complaints to make about the rules made by West Point officials for their own cadets.

Just imagine how a story like the following would sound if Minnesota had played a football game with Army this season:

"The Minnesota team, sadly outweighed, had not the experience to cope with a mighty Army team of veterans which slaughtered the Vikings at will."

The little Gophers, all were removed from high school, looked like 11 Baby LeRays battling against as many King Kongs when they went out on the vast gridiron to meet the huge Cadets.

"Shorty" Kostka, "Pee-Wee" Lund, "Baby" Bevan, "Junior" Wideth, "Skinny" Bengston, and "Little Willie" Beise never had a chance against the Army behemoths as "Bull" Buckler, "Primo" King, and "Muscles" Grove."

If your memory has slipped a little we wish to remind you that Minnesota had one of the largest, toughest, and most powerful grid machines anybody ever saw inside an institution of learning. In addition, Minnesota is a member of the Big Ten, a conference which is among those that believe West Point football players are a little too experienced to play the colleges.

If the West Pointers wish to permit their cadets to play football regardless of their previous university competition, it looks like business which should concern only them and not Mr. Smith, Jones, or Brown, or any of the college conferences.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Reports reaching this city say that Deputy Game Warden Frank B. Hogue, Jr., of Cameron county, had a narrow escape from death while on duty at the game reserve.

He was watching for hunters who were alleged to have been shooting deer in the game reserve. While on watch two shots were fired and he hit within two feet of him according to information told to Motorcycle Patrolman Ray Showalter of this city. Hogue told Showalter that up to December 4 he had given 14 illegally killed spike bucks, two doe and one cow elk to persons on relief and hospitals.

Showalter was with the members of the Good Fellows Hunting Club in Cameron county and they brought down three deer. The members were George Ward, Harry Shaffer, Michael Smiley, Edward Chimeel and Walter Lichenstein. They claim to have seen more deer than they have for several years in the past. In the first two drives five buck were killed. One of the men on watch, William Lichenstein, got his buck within an hour from the time he entered the woods. The other hunters who got four of the deer were not with the local hunters. They were stumped hunters. Showalter said, George Ward was the next to bring down a buck. Shaffer had a Russian rifle. He could not get the safety off and the deer almost ran down Ward, who lifted his gun and dropped the buck.

Reports from Palaski state that a group of four deer hunters who went to Forest county this week had three deer down at the same time. The hunters were "Corbett" Mitchell, J. L. Mitchell, Jr., F. Zeigler and J. W. McClenahan. Every member of the party got a buck before the day was over. The eight pointer shot by J. L. Mitchell weighed 200 pounds.

Among the other youths of this city who have returned to the city with a deer is Don Freeman of Fairmont avenue. The youthful nimrod shot a 10 pointer that weighed 200 pounds. However, in getting the deer out of the woods part of its rack was broken off. He hunted several hours for it but could not find the rack.

Big Ten football coaches would like to have a uniform ruling when making a lateral pass according to news from athletic directors meeting at Chicago. Some officials have permitted lateral passes to be made after the runner has been tackled, while others disallow passes made after the tackle.

Bucknell has accepted an invitation to play a football game in the south on New Year's day. They will play the University of Miami in the "Orange Blossom" game. Temple U. of Philadelphia earlier received a bid to play Tulane in the "Sugar Bowl" game at New Orleans.

Two more nimrods have returned to the city and are assured of enjoying venison steak. They are Scott Ober, 14 East Laurel avenue and R. G. White, Sheridan avenue. Both bucks were shot in the vicinity of Sinnamahoning. Ober's buck had eight points and White's had 10 points.

BRADDOCK HIGH WINS
Braddock High School basketball team opened the 1934-35 season last night at Jeannette, Pa., by taking a 25 to 13 victory over the Jeannettes. New Castle High will go to Braddock on December 18 for a game with the Braddocks.

SHENANGO HIGH GIRLS WIN
Shenango High girls basketball team playing the two court rules handed Wampum High girls a 33 to 7 defeat last night in a game played at the Shenango High court.

Titans Defeat Akron 40 To 30

Wes Bennett Is High Scorer
With 20 Points In Game
At Akron Friday Night

Westminster college basketball team got away to a flying start on their two-day trip last night by taking the measure of the famous Akron Goodyear basketball team at Akron 40 to 30, with Captain Wesley Bennett the big star of the game with 20 points.

A crowd of more than 2,000 witnessed the game. The Titans took a big lead at the half, but in the second half the Goodyears started to whittle down the score and soon led 28 to 23, but baskets by Krivosch and Wilhelm cut the lead to 27 to 27, with five minutes of the game left to play. Bennett cut loose with two or three more baskets and the game was sewed up for the collegians.

Tonight the Westminster team will go to McKeesport for a game with the fast Lithers.

Coach Lawler used a couple of "y" rings on the varsity team last night. Rudish, former West Middlesex high star center, and Johnny Krivosch, former Sharon high football and basketball star.

Sharon High Game On December 20

New Castle High School team will meet Sharon High at George Washington High gym, the night of Thursday, December 20, instead of Wednesday the 19th, it was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today.

This change was made necessary owing to some function at Senior High that would interfere with the game. New Castle will go to Braddock the 18th and will then have one day's rest before tackling Sharon.

Pitt-Bucknell Play Tonight

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—Basketball squads of Pittsburgh University and Bucknell today awaited the starting whistle for the initial game of the season here tonight, a season inaugurated by Carnegie Tech's defeat.

Meeting the strong McKeesport Will team in a practice encounter, last night the Tartans were vanquished by a score of 38-18.

Pitt-Bucknell fracas will officially begin the season as the highlight of the local university's fifth annual basketball clinic.

MAN WE ARE

LOOKING FOR?

We have room for a number of live wire workers along sales promotion and merchandising lines to join our world-wide distributing organization. We still have openings for real men in various sections of the country, who will act as wholesale distributors for a certain line of better quality "non-cholesterol" automotive products. This outstanding line is being nationally advertised in a big way.

No job hunters, broken-down failures or dreamers wanted. We want evidence of previous success. We perform no miracles in making men over. We want men who can do an honest job of selling and render sincere merchandising service, in helping our retail dealers to make more money. We grant an exclusive sales franchise and invest our capital in helping to build up each exclusive territory. But each distributor must be financially able to equip himself with a sales car and buy merchandise to carry on his business.

We want men who can succeed and prosper through association and cooperate with an already going and successful organization.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

DAIRY FEEDING

R. H. Olmstead, Dairy Specialist from State College will discuss "Economic Dairy Feeding" at a series of meetings in Lawrence County next week. Questions pertaining to general feeding practices and the mixing of feed ingredients will be discussed. The schedule of these meetings is:

Tuesday, Dec. 11th 9:30 a. m. Volant Mills, Wilmington township.

Tues. Dec. 11th, 1:30 p. m. Carr school, Washington township.

Wednesday, Dec. 12th, 9:30 a. m. home of Lloyd Burke, Little Beaver township.

Wednesday, Dec. 12th, 1:30 p. m. North Beaver school, North Beaver township.

Wednesday, Dec. 12th, 8:00 p. m. Princeton high school, Slippery Rock township.

WARM WATER HELPS HENS TO PRODUCE MORE EGGS

Egg production depends upon water consumption. Birds which have all the water they want are more likely to produce at a maximum rate than if they are denied this part of their ration.

During the winter warm drinking water produces results. Flock records show that hens receiving warm water all the time in the winter laid 15 more eggs per hen than those getting cold water all the time and eight eggs more than those getting warm water part of the time.

It is especially valuable to have warm water in the poultry houses where lights are used in the morning as the first thing a hen wants when she gets off the roost is a drink of water.

BIRDS ARE ATTRACTED TO TREES AND SHRUB

It is advisable to plant somewhere on the home grounds, if space is permissible, trees, evergreens, and shrubs, which will encourage birds to nest in them.

Some of the deciduous plants which bear attractive or brightly colored fruits palatable to birds and which provide nesting sites are Irish common and red cedars; red, white and Austrian pines; Canada yew; and hemlock. Vines include wild and white grape, honey suckle, and Virginia creeper. Desirable shrubs are shad bush, shrubby, St. John's wort, spice bush, dwarf sumachs, coralberry, snowberry and Japanese larch, mulberry, crabapples, and American elm.

TURKEY CARCASSES TO BE ENTERED IN SHOW

When the turkey carcasses at the Pennsylvania Farm Show pass in review before the official judge, he will bear in mind the type of dressed turkeys that particular housewife and chefs prefer to buy.

High quality is of first importance. This is denoted by the thickness of the meat over the keel bones and the fullness of the thighs. The development of heavy muscle meat is acquired by selective breeding and proper feeding. Quality is further judged by the distribution of fat in and under the skin. Fat forms first in the feather tracts, but as turkeys become prime in thin layer extends between these tracts. These fat cells in the meat help to break up long series of muscle tissues, making these tissues more tender. When there is a good distribution of fat among the muscle tissues, it absorbs into the meat when the carcass is roasted. This absorption of fat makes the meat more juicy and tasty.

Particular chefs and housewives want turkey carcasses that look attractive and are free of bruises, blemishes, deformities, skin abrasions, and discolorations. These same factors will be considered at the Farm Show. When the turkeys are full dressed the heads, legs, feathers and entrails are removed. The giblets are cleaned and placed back in the abdominal cavities. The necks can be left intact, or removed and placed with the giblets.

Blood and feather dressed birds are bled and the feathers removed. This is often called "New York dressed" and is usually the method used to dress turkeys that are wholesaled. When farmers sell to the consumer the birds are usually full dressed. The blood and feather dressed birds will also be scored on the neatness of the head wrappers, while the full dressed birds will be checked for the neatness of dressing, trussing, and condition of the giblets. Trussing is tying the shanks and wings in a position to give the carcass plump and attractive shapes. The 1935 Pennsylvania Farm Show is scheduled for January 21-25 at Harrisburg, and the turkey carcass entries must reach John H. Light, Director, not later than 6:00 p. m. Thursday, January 17. Two entry blanks should be filled out by each exhibitor, one to be sent to the Director and the other to accompany the carcasses. No entry fees are charged and the exhibits must arrive by 8:00 p. m. Sunday, January 20. Refrigeration facilities will be provided in the show building.

SOME WORK REQUIRES TO CONTROL ROSE DISEASES

Destructive diseases of roses, such as mildew, black spot, and brown canker, can be substantially reduced in their ravages by a little work on the part of the rose grower.

Fungi causing black spot and powdery mildew in nearly all cases make their winter home in old dead rose leaves. Collecting and burning these leaves in the fall prevents many of these fungi from passing through the winter. This will, to a large extent, eliminate early spring infection but a complete control program demands spraying or dusting during the growing season.

Brown canker is caused by a fungus which lives from year to year on the cankered areas of rose bush branches. These cankered areas should be pruned out. Growers who do not recognize this disease may get a copy of Farmer's Bulletin 1547 from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

COOLING MILK TO FORTY DEGREES IS ADVISABLE

Experiments conducted by the department of agriculture engineering at the Pennsylvania State College showed conclusively that if a 10-gallon can of milk cooled to 40 degrees Fahrenheit is placed outside where the air and temperature is approximately 70 degrees this milk will warm up on the average at the rate of three degrees an hour.

This means that a can of milk originally cooled to 40 degrees F. if placed outside on a summer day will be nearly 50 degrees at the end of three hours. Considering that bacterial growth increases rapidly at 50 degrees or more, it is a logical conclusion that milk should be cooled to 40 degrees F. or near 40 as it is possible to get it.

Observations In 7th Ward

An automobile with a frozen radiator was seen on East Madison avenue the other day.

Sixteen days until Christmas. Mahoningtown store windows are all gayly bedecked in the season's red and green raiment. Mysterious packages are being hurried home while the children are at school.

B. & O. convention closing today in Baltimore. Mahoningtown may be provided with a large night club if plans materialize. Youngsters now asking for streamlined toy trains. Surveyors busy on Atlantic avenue north of Oakland. Sewer project. Numerous Christmas parties planned by local organizations for next two weeks. Then there is the hunter who got a fine shot at a 21 point buck, and missed. Christmas packages beginning to pour into the local postoffice. Bedraggled cat wandered uninvited into a Liberty street store. As the owner was going to show her the Grand Egress the cat jumped among some boxes and appeared with a mouse hanging from her mouth. She stayed.

More Reports From Hunters

More Bucks Being Brought Back From Big Game Counties

Harry Cameron, of near Hickory Creek lodge, North Beaver Twp. has brought home a souvenir from Sinnamahoning—a large, 175 pound, six pointed buck.

Mr. Cameron is a hunter of long experience. He spent several years hunting and trapping in the west and in Alaska.

Win. McKinley, of Willow Grove who was with Mr. Cameron, Oren Vance and two sons, brought back a five point buck, weighing 140 pounds.

Both Arthur Seaman and E. Harding, young residents of the Mt. Jackson road (Sunnyside) were fortunate in their hunting. In Center county, along the Susquehanna they saw, aimed at and brought down two large bucks. Seaman's was a seven-pointer and weighed 165 pounds while the other was a six pointer.

Pete Russo and Joe Fraggione, both of South Liberty street, have returned from the big game counties with fine bucks to show for their hunting. Mr. Russo got an eight pointer. The other was a four pointer.

BACK TO WORK

Mrs. Gladys Johnston of Ellwood City returned to her duties at the Mahoningtown library this week after an absence due to illness.

ENTERTAINS CLASS

Ruth Taylor of North Ashland avenue entertained her Sunday school class of the Madison Avenue Christian church and its teacher, Miss Lucille McGuire, at her home Friday evening, with Dorothy Hackett as associate hostess.

Games were featured and prizes went to Lucille McGuire, Ella Ringer and Vyda Mullen. Ten boys and girls, members of the class, were present.

Geraldine Covert of the Youngstown road was a special guest.

During the evening a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Sam Taylor, assisted by Mrs. Gladys Taylor Hackett.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mr. W. W. Waid of West Clayton street received the Women's Missionary society of the Madison Avenue Christian church at her home Friday.

Mrs. C. H. Clark was the leader and Mrs. Waid had charge of the business session.

A tasty luncheon was served with Mrs. R. G. Clark assisting the hostess.

The next meeting will be in one month at the home of Mrs. R. G. Clark, North Cedar street.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Nancy, Tessie, Frank and Gene Pelosi, of Johnstown, N. Y., are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pelosi, of Ashland avenue.

Orey Sipe, of the Mt. Jackson road, who was injured in a railroad accident recently, is up and around now. A cut on Mr. Sipe's forehead required six stitches.

Raymond Taylor, who has been working at North Girard, Pa., is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taylor of North Ashland avenue.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., December 7, seven arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness 3, violating parking law 3 and on warrant 1.

Mayor Mayne has received from the mayor of Scranton an invitation to attend a proposed conference of city officials of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg soon where a resolution will be passed asking legislators to pass a law by which cities would receive a portion of the motor vehicle license fees and gasoline tax for the purpose of aiding cities in maintaining streets. The letter said that the request had not been made previously because the state used the money to build roads but added that the state having been built the time had arrived when the state should give some of the funds to the cities.

Engineer Harry Hoskins has been authorized to request the RWD to approve the construction of a storm sewer in Sharp street.

Within a short time the Christmas spirit will be displayed in various colored lights in various homes and along different thoroughfares and city policemen may secure a Christmas tree and place it in the lobby of the police court.

Some years ago they had a beautifully decorated tree. Or another occasion they distributed baskets of food and clothing which had been collected.

One of the persons who spoke against the proposed ordinance to regulate the sales of fireworks here was Mrs. Leonard Cramer and not Mr. Cramer as was reported yesterday. She was one of several women who represented the Women's club and the Parent-Teachers association.

BESSEMER

NEWMAN CLUB MEETING

Thursday evening at 7:30 the members of the Newman club gathered for their December meeting. After the roll call, to which 31 members responded, the meeting was turned over to the president, who introduced Ed Fritz, sport editor of the New Castle News, who gave an interesting talk on the achievements by participating in sport activities.

The other speaker of the evening was Bob Labera, a former heavyweight boxer, sparring partner of Jack Dempsey. Tribute was paid to John Sankovich and a report of the anniversary held in November. Plans were made for a New Year's Eve dance in combination with the Sacred Heart lodge of Bessemer. Arrangements for the organization of a basketball team were completed and brought the business session to a close. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards and radio programs.

BESSEMER NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. George Burnheart and family are moving from Bessemer to New Jersey where he has secured work.

Miss Madolyn Kelley spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon and family at Edinburg.

J. A. Johnson and son Paul left on Thursday for Marienville where they will spend a few days in hunting large game.

Miss Elizabeth Dickson of Edinburg spent the week-end as the guests of Miss Dorothy Johnson of South Main street.

The regular meeting of the ladies auxiliary of the Earl J. Watt post will be held at the Legion Home on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Malovik of Girard, O., motored here to spend Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Gorenz and family of West Poland avenue.

The routine of service for St. Anthony's church are: Sunday school at 9:45, observance of mass at 10:30 in charge of Rev. Fr. N. Pirulli, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelley and family Walter, Jane and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hoffman and family, Sam Book, Gordon Nelson of Bessemer and Ralph Book of Hillsville spent Saturday hunting in the near vicinity of Fisher, Pa.

The services of the First Presbyterian church for Sunday, December 9, are as follows: Sunday school 9:45, morning service and sermon at 11, junior Christian Endeavor at 3:30, senior Endeavor at 7 with the Trail Blazers Circle in charge of the meeting. Evening service and sermon at 8 o'clock.

David Lamson To Face Trial Again

(International News Service) SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 8.—David A. Lamson, former Stanford press executive, must again stand trial for the "bathtub murder" of his wife, Alene.

He must also remain in the old Santa Clara county jail until his second trial is held.

Superior Judge R. R. Syer, who presided at his first trial which sent him into the shadows of the gallows when found guilty of first degree murder, denied his appeal for dismissal of the charge and for freedom on bail in view of denial of his first motion.

Lamson was saved from hanging when the state supreme court granted him a new trial.

QUEEN ESTHER MEETING

Miss Olive Wigton proved a delightful hostess to the Queen Esther girls and their leader, Mrs. Adda McCulloch, of the M. E. church, in her home on Friday evening with an attendance of twenty-one. Devotionals were led by Alice Mack, with the president, Gladys Rape, in charge of the business meeting. A very interesting program was presented with Florence Nicholls, as leader.

At the close of the meeting, an exchange of gifts proved good entertainment. Special guests present included: Jessie Morrow, Ethel Moore, Vera and Violet Simonton. The Misses Simonton gave a number of lovely piano duets. At the close of the meeting, the hostess' mother, assisted by Mrs. Ida Waldinger, served a delicious lunch. The next meeting will be in January, the place to be announced later.

FORUM SPEAKER

The Women's Home Missionary society met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hilliard for their regular monthly meeting.

The Forum Committee announces that John Steuben of New York will speak tomorrow afternoon, 2:45 p. m., at the Trades & Labor Assembly on Fascism and the Working class.
